

www.joyinthehouse.tv

Contact Information:

Andrea McCarter
andream@joyinthehouse.tv
Co-Producer, There's Joy in the House
4822 Miller Farms Ct.
Duluth, GA 30096
770-655-1945

"There's Joy in the House" is a weekly Internet-based variety talk show designed especially for mature women over thirty that is both entertaining and informative. The goal of the show, hosted by Joy Disharoon Boone, is to empower women with knowledge and realistic expectations of themselves. Launched on November 9, 2009, show topics so far include mall safety, skin care, easy entertaining, crafts, exercise, relationships, and holiday songs. Cooking and book review segments with friends and family are sprinkled in for good measure.

You can find "There's Joy in the House" online at:

<http://www.joyinthehouse.tv>

The blog for the show can be found at:

<http://theresjoyinthehouse.blogspot.com/>

Joy's Facebook sites are as follows:

(a) Joy's Facebook Profile:

<http://www.facebook.com/joy.boone>

(b) Joy's Facebook Fan Club:

<http://www.facebook.com/pages/Theres-Joy-in-the-House/264109612608>

(c) Joy's Facebook Group:

<http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=210206415775>

The hostess, co-producer, and script editor, Joy Disharoon Boone, is a native Georgian known for her Southern hospitality and effervescent personality. Whether hosting a casual get-together or a formal party, Joy Boone loves entertaining her family and friends. A Georgia native, born July 20, 1963, Joy was raised in a Christian family and is the youngest of seven children. Having graduated from Woodward Academy in 1981, she has traveled throughout Europe and the U.S. performing in chorale groups, ensembles and as a featured soloist in Church & various community events. Joy and her husband, Richard, have been married for 20 years, and are active members of Blackshear Place Baptist Church in Gainesville. They have two grown sons, Rob and Clarke, and a mini Daschund named Baylee. Many of the show segments are filmed at her home in Gainesville, Georgia, where they live on the edge of Lake Lanier.

The co-producer, director, and video editor of "There's Joy in the House" is Andrea McCarter. She has a B.A. from the University of Texas at Austin, and M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Georgia. Currently, she is employed with the State of Georgia, Department of Community Health, as a Software Engineer. In the fall of 2009, she earned certificates in Digital Filmmaking, Video Production, Special Effects, Video Editing, and Compositing from the Art Institute of Atlanta. She has attended the social media conferences in Atlanta at Kennesaw State University for the last two years (SoCon09 and SoCon10), and is a current member of the Technology Association of Georgia. She holds a Certificate of Knowledge Engineering from Ga. Institute of Technology Continuing Education, Certificate of Data Processing, ASQC-Certified Quality Engineer, Certified Internet Webmaster Associate, Podcasting Certificate, and is currently working on her Project Management Professional (PMP) Certification with the Project Management Institute (PMI). She has taught at the both the university and graduate school levels.